

Willow Valley.

Aug. 28.—I am a new-comer. However it sounds rather superfluous to tell you a fact you are already aware of. It is one of the most difficult things of my life to present myself unannounced but when I once put my hand to the plow there is no turning back, so I am going to wade right in and give you a few of the most important events which occasionally take place in our valley.

As the first thing to be talked about is usually the weather, will say we are having an abundance of rain at the present time, and that it is about twenty degrees cooler than it was last week, for which we are very thankful.

Messrs. Milton Davis and Grant Ackerman, of Van Wert, who attended the Hocking Reunion, were pleasant visitors at the home of Mrs. M. Wilson, of this place. Mr. Davis is an old timer of Hocking, but it was Mr. Ackerman's first experience at hill climbing. He visited at the famous Rock House and informed the writer he would never forget the great rocks and caves he saw there. After all country people have lots to be proud of.

Mr. R. C. Wilson left today to secure employment at the Circleville canning factory.

Edd, Klinker, of Button Ridge, was seen in our valley Sunday.

Atwood Lutz called on Wilson's Tuesday evening.

Myrtle Collison, who has been suffering from a bad attack of typhoid fever, is no better at this writing.

Dora, Lee and Stanley Wilson were pleasant visitors at the Anderson home last Sunday.

At about 7 o'clock last Sunday evening Tommy Anderson was seen looking in a despairing manner at a great bank of clouds! Tommy will tell you the rest, ha! ha!

Barber F. D. Wilson called on Lewis Keister, of Button Ridge, today.

Corn is looking fine in this section of the state.

Several from this neighborhood attended the Logan Fair last week.

Well, will bring this poor attempt at literary work to a close. May call again in the future if some one don't put my eyes out for scribbling this.

At REVOIR.

Mr. Jacob Bartoe was called to Glen Roy last Wednesday by the death of his mother.

The four month old child of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shannon, of near Nelsonville, was buried here last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Elmer C. Wharton moved his family here last week they are among the best people in Hocking County and we are glad to have them come to our town. Mr. W. will again Superintend our schools he was the Supt. last year and taught one of the best schools we've had for years in addition to being well versed in books he teaches morality which all teachers should be compelled to do or else revoke their certificate.

The stork got busy here last week and left a little girl at Mr. Walter Crooks and one at the home of Mr. John Dehnen, Jr. Mr. Crooks stood the ordeal like a man having been there before, but being Mr. Dehnen's first lesson he got almost beside himself and he would smile and smile and smile again, and when last seen he was sitting in the shade of the old apple tree singing: When the baby cries away in the night, There's no place like home, You'll hunt the soothing syrup without any light, There's no place like home.

Crochett's Run.

What on earth has become of our neighbor, McCunesville. Have you run out of stamps? Please give us a line or two as they were usually interesting. It is true we have taken a long vacation ourselves but we will do better in the future.

Remember the Rural Route picnic at Frasures Grove Sept. 4th. This should be a great day for the patrons of No. 6, and neighbors. And we think it should be made an annual festival.

Farmers of this section are getting ready for a large wheat harvest next summer.

Frederick Ellinger, of Calico Ridge, is visiting his uncle, Jacob Ellinger, of this place.

The teachers and scholars are getting ready for the term of school which is to begin Sept. 24.

FISH IN ITALY.

Octopus, Sea Robin, Sea Spider and Skate Used For Food.

"The fish had a peculiar but agreeable taste," said a globe trotter. "Its flesh was a little tough and elastic. That, though, I didn't mind. I rather like it, as one likes the elastic toughness of a clam."

He was describing a dinner in Rome. He went on: "Gorgio, I said to the waiter, 'What kind of fish is this?'"

"Fried octopus, signor," Gorgio answered calmly.

"I ate no more. Fried octopus! The idea! I'd as soon have eaten fried rattlesnake."

"I found that in Italy and in southern France the octopus makes a popular dish. And after that, taking a deep interest in the Roman fish stalls, I found on sale a number of sea things that we consider harmful and disgusting."

"The sea robin, for instance. His body is like a catfish's in shape. In color it is speckled and ugly, frog-like, brown and black. And it has a pair of brown wings. Well, this fish, which we always throw overboard, the Roman dealers get 3 cents apiece for."

"The sea spider. It looks like a great spider, and it is covered with black slime. You catch it when you go crabbing, and, with a cry of disgust, you toss it overboard again—a round, black body, from which a dozen jointed, restless tentacles ray. But the sea spider is a cherished dish in Italy."

"Do you know the skate? A flat, round body, with a long, slim tail—one side of the body white, and here a grotesque parody of the human face is seen—two eyes, nose, mouth. The skate is a horror to look at, and an American would as soon eat rat; but in Italy big, pale skates are on sale at every fish stall."

"You will not believe it, but it is a fact that there are even certain types of jelly fish that the Italians eat."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Compulsory Archery.

Archery was once a compulsory exercise in every English parish after Sunday church. "It is a worthy game," preached Bishop Latimer, "a wholesome kind of exercise and much commended in physic." A fine of a halfpenny for abstaining from archery practice on Sunday was enforced in Edward III's reign, and Henry VIII's crack regiment, the yeomen of the guard, was composed entirely of bowmen. Archery flourished some time after the introduction of the hand gun, though this had been used in England as early as 1471. This developed, in James I's time, into the caliver, so called from the English misconception of an order to supply English soldiers with guns of the same "caliber" as the French pattern, and the longbow was finally abandoned in the civil wars.

The Story of a White Lie.

Is a white lie ever justified? That at least some people believe it has no excuse is proved by the following tale: An ancient rabbi came to a city where all the people were truthful, married one of the inhabitants, had two children and prospered. One day a neighbor called when the rabbi's wife was washing her head, and the rabbi, going to the door, was seized by false modesty and said that she had gone out. Thereupon both of his children died, and, as no one died in that city before reaching old age, the neighbors made inquiries, the rabbi confessed what he had done and was ordered to leave the city immediately.

The Benefit.

A well known medical man was attending an old Irish woman who lived in one of the poorer quarters of Edinburgh. She had been ill, but was convalescent, when one day she said to the doctor:

"Will ye tell me, doctor, dear, for certain, whether I'll get well again or no?"

"Oh, yes, I think you'll be all right soon now," was the answer. "I wanted to know for sure, ye see, doctor, because I'm a lone woman an' I subscribe to a buryn' society, an' I just wished to know if I was likely to be gettin' any benefit out of it or no."—Strand Magazine.

Olive Oil.

The bright and limpid appearance of the best olive oil is secured by repeatedly passing it through layers of carded cotton wool as a filter. The clarified oil of Italy is then, until bottled or sold in bulk, kept in cold storage in masonry tanks lined with hard marble and covered. Those who use much oil and have a cold, dark place in which to keep it find it economical to buy a good brand of oil in gallon packages. It can be drawn off into quart or pint bottles for convenient use and also so that the large quantity may not be exposed too frequently to the air.—New York Post.

From Kentucky. Chicago, Sept. 5.—A white-haired man, who gave his name as Samuel Browning and his residence as Kentucky, created a disturbance among the Bryan visitors in the lobby of the Auditorium annex by brandishing a knife and demanding to see Mr. Bryan. The man had been about the hotel nearly all day and had several times been asked to leave. At last he tried to force his way to Mr. Bryan's apartments, shouting, "Stand back or I will knife some one." He was arrested by the house detective and turned over to the police.

MOROCCO

Not Under Obligations to Surrender Stensland to Uncle Sam.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The state department is without advice from Mr. Gummere, American minister to Morocco, who had been cabled to ascertain whether the sultan would surrender Paul Stensland, the fugitive banker, upon proof of guilt and in the absence of any extradition agreement. The Moroccan government is not under any obligations to place Stensland in the custody of this government. In the event Stensland should be surrendered to an authorized representative of the United States, it would not be safe to bring the banker to this country as a passenger on a merchant vessel. A merchantman probably would stop at ports of Spain, Portugal and France, and in any one of these countries Stensland might make demands for protection on the ground that he was being taken to the United States without warrant recognized by international law. The use of a warship has been suggested.

No Warship Handy.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—A telegram to Governor Deneen from the state department at Washington stated that no "homing" warship was due by the way of the Mediterranean for 40 or 50 days. The contents of the message were forwarded to Assistant State Attorney Barbour here. This complication, according to Mr. Barbour, will necessitate the sending of a man from the state's attorney's office to bring back the defaulting bank president, Paul Stensland, who is under arrest at Tangier, Morocco.

TO BREAK STRIKE

Thousands Motormen and Conductors Landed in Frisco.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—A thousand strong, the second contingent of Farley strike-breakers were landed in this city. Unlike the first trainload, the majority of the new arrivals are experienced motormen and conductors, and the few deserters from their ranks say that they have come west with a realization of conditions and a determination to break the strike at all hazards. Union pickets met the men when they landed and marched beside them as they hurried south. The strikers used what permission they could to draw individuals from the column and were successful with a number, who managed to escape without interference from the guards. No attempt was made by the United Railway company to run the cars. The car men's union later voted to go back to work and submit the question of wages and hours to arbitration. This action was taken at a mass meeting of the union. Before becoming effective, however, it must be ratified by the seven affiliated unions.

Train Left the Track.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 5.—The west-bound Los Angeles limited on the Union Pacific railroad was derailed at Red Buttes, 40 miles west of Cheyenne. The entire train, including six coaches, left the track and the engine and baggage car turned over. The fireman, J. W. Cook, was badly scalded. A tramp was killed and another fatally injured. The cause of the accident is not known.

Italian Murdered.

New York, Sept. 5.—The body of an Italian with a number of stab wounds in the neck and breast was found in a section of woods near Jamaica, Long Island. There was no sign of a weapon and no traces of a struggle. The police decided after a careful study that the murder resembled in many respects the famous Barret murder mystery and others that have followed it.

Missing Launch Found.

Sandusky, O., Sept. 4.—The naphtha launch Adeline, which was reported as missing with more than a score of persons on board, reached her dock here in a safety. The launch went aground on the sandbar near Johnson's Island and remained in that position until found by one of the numerous boats sent out in search of her.

"Medicine seemed to be of no use until I started using Pe-ru-na. I took twelve bottles in all, although it is six months ago since I stopped. I have had no return of my old complaint, in spite of the fact that I have been out in all sorts of weather during the severe winter."

No better remedy was ever devised by the medical profession for the mitigation of all climatic ailments than Pe-ru-na.

"Four years ago I lost my voice, so that I was unable to speak above a whisper for seven weeks. Our family doctor could do nothing for me. After seven weeks suffering, I read some circulars in regard to Pe-ru-na."

"I bought a bottle at once and took it in teaspoonful doses every hour, and in two days I could talk. I will never be without it."
